

GUMMERE FELLOWS

LAKE FOREST COLLEGE

Annual Report, 2018/19

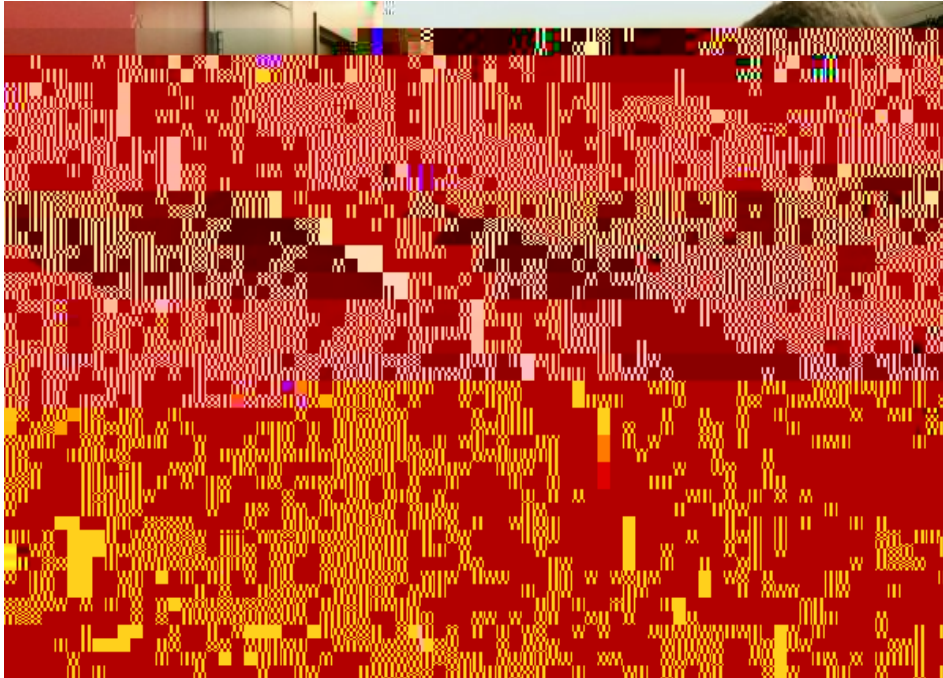

In 2018, twelve students were selected from a pool of 19 applicants to serve as Gummere Fellows: Lexi Bruni '19, Amy Budde '19, Louis Philippe De Courcy '19, Hannah Gurholt '21, Jo Hendriksen '19, Isha Khalil '19, Fallon Longfield '21, Bob McKeon '21, Lexi Nogulich '19, Aaron O'Neill '21, Rachel Purgerson '19 and Noah Vanderhyde '20. They are involved and positive contributors to campus life, who share the same enthusiasm and pride about Lake Forest College as Spike Gumsale. In addition to contributing in the College's enrollment strategies, Gummere Fellows were responsible for representing the College, and Spike alumni gatherings both locally and across the country.

During this past year, Gummere Fellows participated in Development & External Relations events, interfacing with key alumni and fostering alumni engagement. Such events included:

x Lillard Science Center Grand Opening

Gummere Fellows welcomed alumni and friends on the inaugural evening of Homecoming 2018. The Fellows received talking points about the new building to share with alumni, families and friends

x Philanthropy Awareness Week (P.A.W.)

Gummere Fellows worked with Development staff in order to groom current students to be contributing alumni upon graduation. Fellows participated in tabling events during the lunch hours of one week in November to educate current students about the importance of giving back.

x Alumni Board Meeting, April 2019

Gummere Fellows attended the meeting to give an overview of their student experience and deliver campus updates. According to Suzanne Nyren '72, Senior Director of Alumni and Community Engagement, "The Alumni Board was riveted by the presentation and kept the Fellows well past the designated conclusion of the meeting. They had plans to invite them annually and encourage them to apply for membership, following graduation. On the post meeting survey, Alumni Board members rated Gummere Fellows' presentation 5 (the highest rating)."

x Forester Day 2019

A highly anticipated event on the Gummere Fellows calendar, Fellows prepared for their first off-campus, out-of-state event with alumni in eight different markets. The students traveled alone to their assigned city to attend an event with alumni, friends and families. They were responsible for keeping a reasonable budget, presenting themselves professionally, discussing their student experience, explaining the role as a Gummere Fellow, giving general campus updates and highlighting the Spike Initiative. The Forester Day events were well attended and the Fellows were very well received.

In addition to Development & External Relations initiatives, the Fellows also assisted with Admissions events, on and off campus, serving as “so-hosts” with Admissions staff. Six of the 12 Fellows were also College Ambassadors. Significant Admissions events included:

x Campus Visit Days

As an “all hands on deck” event, Gummere Fellows served on student panels discussing student life, support, and academics at the College; they mingled with visitors, welcomed them to campus, answered general questions and directed them accordingly to get the most out of their time on campus.

x Forester Scholars Weekend

While top-tier, prospective students were presenting their scholarship projects, Gummere Fellows served as resources to the parents of these students. They participated on panels, gave tours, answered questions and represented the best of student life at Lake Forest College.

x Admissions Trips

Shortly after Forester Day, Gummere Fellows accompanied admissions offices to overnight, often out-of-state receptions and schools. They interfaced with prospective students answering questions about deciding to attend Lake Forest College and how to be happy and successful in and out of the classroom.

Finally, as part of the Program graduate fellows receive a $500 stipend to spend on professional development opportunities. Noted examples from the past year include:
